Jury recommends 10 years for Hunt

Daniel Richardson

The three men involved in the 2011 beating death of Derek Moore will possibly all be free men a decade from now, after the jury recommended a maximum 10 year prison sentence for Kendrick Hunt, one of the three involved.

Hunt was tried in Hickman County over the last two weeks for his involvement in the death of Derek Moore, and found not guilty of complicity to first-degree robbery, and guilty of complicity to first Degree unlawful imprisonment, and wanton endangerment.

Hunt was originally indicted for Robbery, Kidnapping, and Murder, as the Commonwealth Attorney sought the death penalty in the Hickman County trial.

Two other individuals, Jeremy Irons and Connell Mounday were involved in the incident and pleaded guilty. Irons was charged and pleaded guilty to First Degree Robbery, Kidnapping, and murder. Mounday was charged and pleaded guilty for complicity to robbery, kidnapping, and murder. Irons and Mounday were each sentenced to a maximum of 15 years in prison.

Hunt Pleaded not guilty and went to trial. Last Wednesday, the jury found him only guilty of complicity to unlawful improsonment, a lesser offense than kidnapping, and wanton endangerment, a much lesser offense than murder.

The indictment states that the jury found from the evidence that Hunt "did not protect Derek Moore and participated in cleaning and loading Derek Moore into a vehicle after he had been injured, and thereby wantonly created a substantial danger of death or serious physical injury to Derek Moore," and under the circumstances such conduct manifested extreme indifference to the value of human life.

"The jury made the best possible decision with the evidence presented to them," said Circuit Judge Timothy Langford, who presided over the trial.

For each of the offenses for which Hunt was found guilty (complicity to first degree unlawful imprisonment and wanton endangerment), the maximum prison sentence is five years. The jury recommended five years for each offense, to be served consecutively for a total of 10 years in the penitentiary.

Hunt's sentencing is set for Thursday, November 20.

CEMETERY VANDALIZED - Fulton County Sheriff Bobby Hopper (l) and deputy Johnny Smith (r) examine one of more than 50 cemetery stones vandalized at the Cayce Cemetery this past weekend. Sheriff Hopper said 45 stones were discovered overturned Sunday morning, with seven additional stones found damaged Monday morning. The stone shown here was from a burial in 1915. Cayce Cemetery vandalized

More than 40 headstones throughout the Cayce United Methodist Cemetery were vandalized sometime between Saturday night, Nov. 8 and Sunday morning, Nov. 9. Then the alleged vandals returned again Sunday night inflicting more damage on approximately 11 more headstones at the 100 plus year old cemetery that is adjacent to Cayce United Methodist Church (UMC).

The church will be celebrating its 125th anniversary in May 2015.

Headstones were knocked over and some damaged including headstones that are approximately 100 years old.

Members of the church were stunned to see the damaged imposed upon their cemetery as they attended church services on Sunday morning.

"How can anybody be so disrespectful to other people," was the first thought that went through Larry Gardner, Cemetery Chairperson's mind when he learned what had happened to the cemetery. "This has never happened to our cemetery before. It is a very old cemetery, close to a main roadway."

The stone marking the cemetery is dated 1890 and Gardner estimates that there are more than 400 burial plots located in the Cayce cemetery, which

Campbell looking forward to working with new council, fiscal court

Daniel Richardson

Clinton Mayor-elect Phyllis Campbell has big plans for her term as mayor, which will begin January 1.

In a telephone interview on Monday, Campbell explained that she has already lined out the initial ideas of what will be her agenda at the beginning of the year.

"I want to thank everyone for their support," she said, "and I look forward to working with, and for, the City of Clinton.

Campbell said that among other immediate adjustments, she plans to meet with each department head prior to each council meeting, and will want a representative from each department to attend the meetings.

"I want them to be able to hear concerns and complaints when people come and address the council," she said.

She also plans to visit and meet with mayors in neighboring cities to see what they are doing right, and how municipalities can work together on certain projects.

She also plans to keep working on the sidewalk issues that have plagued Clinton pedestrians, and work on the city's utilities to keep costs as low as possible. Campbell want to seriously pursue the option of the city taking over the water department.

"It's not going to happen overnight due to the costs involved," she said about the city's takeover of the water system, "but I think we can do it. Our water system is not cost efficient."

She also hopes to see more city representation in community activities. Though she knows she can't require it, she would like to see each council member involved in at least one community organization or charity.

"If we're out in the community, we can become aware of issues that people might not bring to our attention at our council meetings," she said, "and community involvement will also open up more ideas for improvement."

Campbell also wants to see more involvement from high school students and young adults in the community. She mentioned the idea of starting a mentorship program and encouraging high school students to sit in on council meetings.

While on the topic of young adults being involved, Campbell said she is ecstatic about the addition of Laura Poole to the city council.

"She's a young person who is getting more involved, and that's what we need," she said.

Poole was elected to the council last Tuesday and will take Campbell's current seat in January.

Campbell is scheduled to be sworn in next Monday, Nov. 17, at 10 a.m., she will take office as Mayor of Clinton on January 1.

The True Meaning of Holiday Gifts

Arts Council Fair-November 22

The holidays give us the opportunity to show those we love how special they are. We can get so wrapped up in the hustle and bustle of the season and pressure from retailers that we forget the personal side. Could it be that one of a kind personal hand made item for someone on your list is far more treasured than the expensive retail gift bought at the mall? The Hickman County Arts Council invites you to shop at their annual Fair on Saturday, November 22 to find all kinds of those unique gifts that will be remembered long after December 25th. Over fourteen new vendors and thirty-six returning vendors make your holiday shopping easy. The Fair will once again be at the Hickman County Elementary School gym, starting at 8:30. Remember, lunch (soup/chili, sandwich, dessert, and drink) is available for $5, and your gifts can be wrapped!

Two weeks ago, we ran an article listing every vendor and what they were selling. To summarize, two vendors will have wooden items. Ten vendors offer jewelry, along with other items. Five women have crocheted and quilted gift options. Getting ready for guests: six vendors have everything from nuts to homemade bread. Even homemade pickles, jams, salsa, and spaghetti sauce can be purchased. Five vendors are offering personalization on items. Some new items include chalkboards, ink paintings, and deer lanyards. Of course, there are ornaments, pottery pieces, soaps, frames, scarves, photos, aprons, quilts, wind chimes, painted furniture, calendars, CD's, and books (around eight authors). One vendor added since the article two weeks ago is Amanda Manning who is bringing goat soaps/lotions, baked goods, pallet and horseshoe art.

is home to more loved ones than just those who have attended Cayce UMC. "We have over 90 veteran plots and there are people buried here who were from not only Cayce but also Hickman, Fulton and more. They are from all over."

Gardner also added that some of the stones that were damaged no longer have family members living.

"I was very distraught when I learned the news this morning," added Mike Sheehan, a member of Cayce UMC.

Members of the cemetery committee are committed to repairing all of the damage perpetrated in this seemingly senseless crime. "We will get them fixed," reiterated Gardner. "We are committed to finding out who did this and have them pay for their crimes."

The Cemetery Committee is offering a $1,000 monetary award for information that leads to the conviction of those responsible for this act of vandalism.

Bob Morrow with Bell Monument out of Wickliffe, Ky., has pledged to assist with the resetting of the headstones that were turned over, at no charge to the cemetery.

"The Fulton County Sheriff's Office (FCSO) is investigating this heinous act and the person or persons responsible for this act will be caught and prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law," stated an FCSO press release.

Two juvenile suspects were taken into custody on Monday in relation to the vandalism and are expected to be charged with criminal mischief.

If you have any information regarding this incident please contact the FCSO at 270-236-2545. All tips will remain completely confidential.

Books by new author to be available at Hickman County Arts, Crafts & Book Fair

Vivid Gray is a new author to Hickman County. He lives on a small remote hill-country farm now in the family for three generations. He enjoys time with his energetic little hound dog, working in the yard and writing books.

Vivid's intent is to tell the story of struggle through adversity with inner strength and the gentle touch of Devine guidance. This can be accomplished without unnecessarily explicated descriptions of sex, excessive gruesome depictions of the details of violence, or extreme vulgar language which is considered by many to be necessary. The necessary conflict is presented in the form of dealing with witnessed horror, experienced terror, coming to realize personal guilt, and accepting that the past can not be changed. Of the main characters, they are neither super heroes nor wicked villains. They are only people who are human, attempting because of their strengths, or failing because of their weaknesses in struggling with responsibility versus personal desires, remorse, guilt, and sometimes with the unintended consequences of the action of others.

Vivid Gray has three books recently published with Amazon. You may find his books by going to amazon.com>books>vivid gray. These books will also be available at the Hickman County Arts, Crafts & Book Fair on November 22 at Hickman County Elementary School.

Senior Chatter

By Wendy Stairs

I sit here in front of my computer thinking back over the past few weeks…each morning I start my day the same way… my alarm goes off at 6:15 a.m. each morning, I sit up and will my stiff body move towards the coffee maker to start my morning caffeine rush. I then turn on the TV to watch the news. While my coffee is brewing I pick up my phone and begin to scroll social media while also tuning my ear to the daily news. By the time I begin getting ready for work I find myself in an anxious state of mind. Some days I even find myself extremely blue. I am telling this to bring everyone to my euphony moment when I realized the unnecessary stress, anxiety and depression I am experiencing is coming from the disconnected state our world has become. We as a nation have forgotten what we are even here for. The news and social media bombards us with murder, kidnapping, wars, disease and every evil act imaginable to mankind on a daily basis. This is what I, along with many others, start our days out with. I then drive to work wondering is it all even worth it…can anyone truly make a difference anymore…. where is the love, kindness, generosity and willingness to help others out. To live each day with simplicity is almost unheard of in this day and age. I am awakened out of my journey through the past when an elderly lady comes to my doorway and says to me, "I love you! And I don't know what I would do without this place. Sometimes it's the only time I am able to eat!" That my friend is why I am here. That is the reason we can all overcome the stress and anxiety of the world. And YES together we can all make a difference even if it is just to one person.

This Center is vitally important to so many people in our community and we depend on not just our government but our town as well to help us continue to provide meals, services and free programs to our senior citizens. We are in need of local monetary donations to help keep our doors open. Any amount is a blessing to us. You can send donations to Hickman County Senior Citizens, 212 E North Street, Clinton KY 42031.

Second Baptist Church News

By Teresa Walton Pearson

November 9

John Hill gave the Sunday School devotion from Daniel 3:13 "Count Your Blessings" - John said he got a blessing when he went to the Hickman County High School Cross Country Track Meet and the coach gathered everyone around and had prayer before the games. Then after the game they had prayer before they ate at a restaurant. John said "We need to demonstrate our faith in public more now than ever."

Hilda Cannon sang "Roll You Over The Tide", Bayleigh Baush sang "Here I Am" and Tanner Dublin signed to "Mary's Alabaster Box"

The Holy Spirit was moving through the congregation so strong that many people went to the alter while the singing was still going on, so Bro. Dustin got up and began preaching an invitation and more came to the alter. The Spirit was so strong we had church before church began.

Our Thanksgiving Meal will be held on Sunday November 23 along with High Attendance Sunday - Everyone is Welcome. That night we will have services and Community Thanksgiving Service at First Baptist Church in Clinton, with Bro. Dustin preaching. Our regular Wednesday night service that week, will be held on Tuesday Night Nov. 25 with no service Wednesday.

Please pray for: Teen Garrison, Dorothy Brady, Claudia Spurlin, Deloris Spurlin's mother and daughter, Howell Cannon, Thomas Dublin, Jim Schooley, Pat Shadwick, Alan Tankersley, Dorothy Hoskins, Anthony Poe, Dorothy Rogers, Leveda Bean, Edna Roper, Billy Lamb, Rocky James, Kay Jones, Megan Grubbs, Emma Barkley, Alan Farley, Josephine Shadwick, Helen Holmes, Josh Harpole, Austin Upshaw, Mildred Morrison, Eloise Harrison, Donna Lyle, the Baker and Byassee families, Our Troops and Our Country.

At Second Baptist we believe that "everybody is somebody and Jesus is everything."

Visitors are always welcome at Second Baptist Church. Sunday School starts at 10am. Worship service is at 11am. Sunday night worship service is at 6 pm. Wednesday night 7 pm. Pastor Bro. Dustin Cunningham.

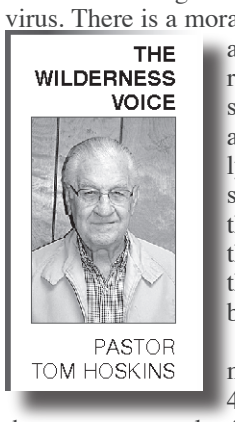
EPIDEMIC

There is an epidemic in our land. I am not speaking of some feared disease like Ebola. I am talking about an epidemic of cohabitation, which in the long term may be more destructive to our land than any virus. There is a moral collapse in our nation. Multiplied thousands are living together without the benefit of marriage. It is the common thing to introduce or speak of their live-in as their fiancé or fiancée, and the word rolls of their tongue as smoothly as water off a duck's back. The practice is so common that it is hardly given a second thought any more. In fact, it rather seems to be the 'in thing' to do today. What is so strange is that we are acting like animals and animals are being treated like humans.



Jesus told the woman at the well, "He (the man) you have now is not your husband (John 4:18). She had a man. Yes she HAD a man in the common speak of today he would be her fiancé, but he wasn't her husband. The indication was he was her live-in, but when she met Jesus the text reveals she was a changed woman. What happened to her 'fiancé? We are not told but it is certain he had to go.

There is a serum for this epidemic, a vaccine against this disease. That serum is called Jesus.

Happy birthday wishes to Alan House on the 10th, Tammy Jackson on the 11th, Kathy McClure, Jeanne Jackson, and Shane Whitlock on the 13th, and to Margaret Jackson Whitlock on the 16th. May your day be extra special!

Congratulations to Jason Batts, son of Mark and Vicki Batts and grandson of Clyde and Celia Batts of our community on being elected to serve as the county attorney! Congratulations to Amanda McClure Spillman, daughter of Jimmy and Brenda McClure on being elected as the Hickman County PVA!

Happy Veteran's Day to all the veterans everywhere. On Sunday during morning worship we recognized our veterans. They included Harold Jackson, Ed Guill, Doug Guhy, Terry Byrd, and Jason Archey. Those not present were Will Elliott and Cliff Humphreys Sr.

Community wide Thanksgiving service will be held at the Bayou de Chein Church on Sunday, Nov. 23 beginning at 5:30 with a potluck meal to follow. Everyone is invited to attend.

We welcome Bro. Dennis and Debbie Gardiner, pastor of the Mt. Zion Church to our community. They moved into the manse over the week-end. John Bostick of Fla. has been visiting with his mom, Helen Bostick over the week-end. James and Sandra Vaughn's daughter Kim and husband, Gary of Penna. are here visiting with family and friends for the week.

Psalm 68:19 says "Blessed be the Lord, who daily loadeth us with benefits." We all have good and bad days and in these daily God blesses and cares for His people. Often in the bad days we fail to see God blessings. But God is always giving blessings even though they may not be readily seen. Let us be encouraged to find things to be thankful for every day of the year. Look for God's hand at work in your life and don't forget to praise Him. Remember a thankful heart is a joyful heart!

Remember in prayer Agnes Walker and her family, Ralph Laster, Davis Dixon, Carolyn Cox, Wanda House, Teresa Ferguson, J C Jackson, our nation and leaders, nursing home residents, and our men and women in service.

In closing, Can't sleep? Try counting your blessings! Have a blessed week everyone!

Thanksgiving: So Much to be Thankful For

By Bryan Golden

Thanksgiving is much more than a big meal with family and friends. It's a time to reflect on, and be thankful for, all of the good things you have. Even with all of the uncertainty and turmoil in the world, you have so much to be thankful for. It's important to be grateful, not just on Thanksgiving, but each and every day. Rather than lamenting what you feel is lacking in your life, begin each new day by developing an attitude of gratitude. Take inventory of your blessings and you will be surprised at just how much you have to be thankful for.

If you have enough to eat, a place to live, a way to get around, people who care about you, or people you care about, then you are wealthy. If you lack any of these elements, you must still be grateful for what you do have, while striving to obtain whatever is absent.

Focus on all positive aspects of your life. Take nothing for granted. Every morning, recharge your appreciation. Be happy for everything there is, not upset over what you feel is missing.

Dreams of the future shouldn't diminish appreciation for the present. If all you do is concentrate on what you want, you won't enjoy today. Don't be jealous of others; what they do or have has no bearing on you.

You can feel bitter or resentful for a variety of reasons. Perhaps you feel something is missing from your life, things aren't going your way, or you have been treated unfairly. You may wonder, "Why do these things always happen to me?"

Life's problems tend to dominate your thoughts, turning your focus to what you feel is wrong. You may start to resent those who appear to be better off. You're apt to dwell on things you think would make your life better if you had them. If only you had more money, more time, a bigger house, a different car, a different job, a different boss, had picked a different career, etc.

Once your attitude becomes one of deficiency instead of abundance and appreciation, you can become overwhelmed by feelings of frustration and feel like a victim. As this happens, a consuming vicious cycle starts.

Being bitter or resentful blows situations out of proportion. People who are bitter frequently find that their situations deteriorate and their mental and physical health decays.

It's difficult, if not impossible, to achieve your goals while you are bitter or resentful. Regardless of what challenges might befall you, bitterness makes finding solutions much more elusive.

There is no point to feeling bitter since it accomplishes nothing, harms you and makes things worse. Filling yourself with gratitude on a daily basis makes you feel good, while driving out negative feelings.

Begin your practice of gratitude each morning as soon as you wake. Every day is a great day. If you have any doubts, try missing one. Take inventory of everything, no matter how small or seemingly insignificant, that is good in your life.

If it helps, make a written list of all things you are grateful for. Read your list every day. As you do this, you will build and reinforce your attitude of gratitude. Don't waste any time with what you feel you don't have.

Keep things in perspective. Consider all the people who have overcome difficulties far worse than yours. Don't be consumed by your problems, there is always a solution. Maintaining an attitude of gratitude allows your mind to devise a resolution for your circumstances.

Make everyday a day of Thanksgiving and you will be amazed how much better your life will become.

Don't hide from your bills

If you are having trouble paying a bill, contact the company immediately to work out a payment plan. Whatever you do, do not ignore letters and calls from your creditors, according to the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA).

It is best to explain everything in a letter so you have a written record. Before writing the letter look at your finances to come up with a payment amount you can handle. That lets your creditor know you still plan to pay what you owe and will pay as much as possible during your financial crunch.

Most companies will work with you if you are up front about your difficulties. Ask if your creditor will waive any penalties and will extend your payment period if you are temporarily in a tight money situation.

KHEAA is the state agency that administers Kentucky's grant and scholarship programs, including the Kentucky Educational Excellence Scholarship (KEES). It provides financial literacy videos at http://itsmoney.kheaa.com. KHEAA also provides free copies of "It's Money, Baby," a guide to financial literacy, to Kentucky schools and residents upon request at publications@kheaa.com.

To learn how to plan and prepare for higher education, go to www.gotocollege.ky.gov. For more information about Kentucky scholarships and grants, visit www.kheaa.com; write KHEAA, P.O. Box 798, Frankfort, KY 40602; or call 800-928-8926, ext. 6-7372.
